AGENCIES, SYSTEMS, IDENTIFIERS, AND EVENTS — NOT A REAL
FILING OR CYBERSECURITY GUIDE

Oral Argument Calendar Notice

Issued: May 12, 2026 Synthetic docket: SYN-CA4-26-CV-4106 Argument date: June 9, 2026

The appeal of Open Grid Archive v. United States Department of Energy is placed on the synthetic oral-argument calendar for June 9, 2026, before Presiding Judge Vale, Judge Quill, and Judge Reed. Each is a fictional composite bench profile. The Clerk will separately communicate the exercise’s fictional appearance sequence to counsel of record.

Tamsin Roe and Leo Marr will appear for Open Grid Archive. Corin Pell will appear for DOE. No real address, courtroom, telephone number, access credential, or remote-meeting link is associated with this training notice. The parties shall not add one to a public or controlled filing.

Counsel should be prepared to address the boundary of the supported 7(E) decision-tree claim, the particularized showing required for 7(F), the effect of RLS-OG-002 on segregability, and the distinction between agency withholding and access to judicial records. The panel may inquire about a bounded remand that preserves any operational relationship sustained under 7(E). This notice expresses no view on the outcome.

Public and Controlled Presentation

Argument will be public as to the facts, statutory standards, official authorities, record arithmetic, requested disposition, and all material appearing in the public briefs and appendix excerpts. Counsel may refer to the approved fictional redaction notices as field categories but may not attempt to supply an underlying value or operational meaning.

If the panel determines that a controlled semantic position must be discussed, the Court will use a bounded procedure consistent with the May 8 interim order. Only the panel, necessary court staff, and counsel of record Tamsin Roe, Leo Marr, and Corin Pell are eligible. Eligibility does not create permanent access, and a grant for one controlled filing does not reach another.

The exercise record contains no authentic cyber instruction. Counsel shall avoid any discussion of real systems, vulnerabilities, credentials, configuration, infrastructure, protocols, response timing, or personal contact information. A question about legal function should be answered at the same abstract level used in the briefs. Any uncertainty shall be raised with the panel without revealing a controlled label publicly.

Calendar Directions and Certification

The Clerk will call the case under synthetic docket SYN-CA4-26-CV-4106. Counsel shall identify themselves and the fictional party represented. Any demonstrative aid must be drawn from the public record unless the panel has approved a document-specific controlled session. No new evidence or extra-record operational account will be accepted.

The parties shall promptly notify the Clerk of a change affecting counsel, mootness, finality, or the need for interim restricted treatment. The argument date does not alter the existing record, the twelve-record and 200-page arithmetic, or any filing deadline already completed. It also does not forecast when or how the Court will decide the appeal.

The Clerk certifies that this public notice was entered on May 12, 2026, and served through the synthetic docket on Tamsin Roe, Leo Marr, and Corin Pell. The notice contains no controlled inert label and no real contact or appearance information. The case remains assigned to the fictional Vale–Quill–Reed panel.
