Never-Filed Counterfactual Oral Argument Notice

Court: United States Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit Case: Open Grid Archive v. United States Department of Energy Isolated docket: SYN-CA4-26-CV-4106-CF-NEVER-OCCURRED Filed: April 24, 2026

The isolated counterfactual appeal is calendared for oral argument on May 12, 2026 before Judges Vale, Quill, and Reed, with Judge Vale presiding. This notice concerns only the never-filed training docket. It schedules nothing on the actual appellate docket and creates no public court event.

Each side is allotted twenty minutes. Open Grid may reserve up to three minutes for rebuttal by notifying the fictional courtroom deputy before argument begins. Tamsin Roe will argue for Open Grid; Corin Pell will argue for DOE. A substitution by Leo Marr may be recorded in the isolated session without changing allotted time.

Counsel should be prepared to address the unchanged 7(E) record, the corrected functional 7(F) showing, the line-by-line segregability evidence, and the document-specific sealing findings. The panel may ask how final-decision jurisdiction remains tied to the single district judgment despite the corrected premise.

No participant may discuss a real system or attempt to infer an operational value from a public notice or inert label. Argument will use only the legal abstractions contained in the branch record.

Access and Argument Procedure

The public portions of argument are open within the synthetic exercise. Counsel must frame answers from the public briefs whenever possible. If a question requires reference to a controlled field placement, the presiding judge may direct a short transition to the authorized session; no authentic sensitive value exists or may be supplied.

Controlled access is disclosure-specific. A grant for the opening brief does not expose the response or reply. The clerk must confirm the participant, session, exact pack closure, and applicable order before initiating deferred verification. Path, byte count, digest, readability, and page total must match before a leased snapshot appears.

When the controlled discussion ends, revocation removes the sealed row and restores public-only projection. The public transcript notation, if any, may describe the legal category discussed but may not reveal controlled storage metadata. Stable logical subjects continue to resolve to public counterparts.

The argument will not be livestreamed or recorded outside the exercise. The courtroom deputy may maintain a minute entry stating that argument occurred and identifying counsel, but that entry remains confined to the isolated docket. Counsel should avoid names, routes, values, or techniques beyond the fictional labels authorized in the sealed briefs.

Issues and Administrative Directions

The parties should distinguish four issues. For 7(E), address technique or procedure implementation separately from guideline circumvention. For 7(F), address each functional group and the causal link to danger to a person. For segregability, identify the affirmative evidence supporting the seventeen-passage release and remaining retentions. For sealing, address notice, access source, alternatives, specificity, duration, and revocation.

The panel requests attention to remedy. A valid operational withholding need not determine a disputed safety ground. A supported exemption does not answer whether administrative text is separable. A FOIA ruling does not automatically justify closure of the associated judicial material. Counsel should explain whether the corrected premise supports issue-specific affirmance without remand.

Electronic devices, demonstratives, and outside technical materials are unnecessary. The case can be argued from the fictional record and official authorities. Any demonstrative must omit controlled labels unless the presiding judge approves its use in the authorized session.

Teren Wye issues this notice as the fictional exercise clerk on April 24, 2026. The scheduled date, panel, and procedures are imaginary and do not describe an actual court calendar.
