Appearances and Corporate Disclosure Statements

Filed: February 18, 2026 Synthetic docket: SYN-CA4-26-CV-4106

Tamsin Roe and Leo Marr enter appearances as fictional counsel for appellant Open Grid Archive. Open Grid is a fictional Maryland nonprofit described in the record as collecting, reviewing, and publishing public information about government administration. Nila Quen is its fictional executive director. Neither counsel nor the organization supplies a real address, telephone number, electronic credential, or bar identifier in this exercise.

Open Grid states that it has no parent corporation and that no publicly held corporation owns ten percent or more of any interest in it. It identifies no publicly traded affiliate whose financial interest could be substantially affected by the appeal. The organization is the same plaintiff named in the final judgment and is not acting for an undisclosed member, donor, or real infrastructure operator.

Counsel's appearance covers the public filings and participation in any separately authorized session for a particular controlled counterpart. Appearance alone does not create a continuing entitlement to view every sealed document. Any such viewing remains subject to the document-specific access list, exact resolved-record condition, temporary grant, verification, and revocation terms established by later order.

Roe and Marr certify service of this appearance and disclosure on fictional DOE counsel Corin Pell through the synthetic appellate docket.

Appearance and Statement for DOE

Corin Pell enters an appearance as fictional counsel for appellee United States Department of Energy. DOE appears only as the institutional respondent named in the synthetic action. Pell does not represent Elian Voss, Kira Morrow, Dalen Saye, Ari Tern, Milo Crest, Nessa Rill, or any other exercise participant in a personal capacity.

As an agency of the United States, DOE reports no parent corporation, stock ownership, or publicly traded affiliate for corporate-disclosure purposes. The exercise record identifies no private entity with a direct financial interest in the appellate outcome. References to the fictional Grid Sentinel program, the Office of Resilience Exercise Records, or any repository name do not identify separate parties.

Pell's entry of appearance does not authenticate a real government contact or authorize access beyond the bounds of this training record. The appearance permits receipt of public docket notices and participation in a controlled viewing session only when a particular disclosure has been authorized. It neither waives DOE's asserted confidentiality position nor establishes that any claimed withholding or sealing restriction is lawful.

DOE certifies that this statement is complete for the parties and interests disclosed in the closed record. Service is made on Tamsin Roe and Leo Marr through the fictional docket without an actual address or communications endpoint.

Joint Disclosures and Continuing Duties

The parties identify no intervenor, amicus participant, additional claimant, insurer, corporate parent, publicly held owner, or related entity requiring disclosure at this stage. The originating court and the fictional composite appellate panel are adjudicative actors rather than parties with a financial stake. District Judge Sable Hart and district clerk Teren Wye are named only to describe lower-court acts.

Counsel understand that a later material change must be reported. That obligation includes a newly participating entity, a changed organizational interest, or a conflict-bearing relationship discovered during the appeal. It does not invite supplementation with a real person or organization unrelated to the fictional case.

The public docket may display the names of counsel and the institutional parties. Controlled briefs and appendix excerpts remain separate assets. Eligibility on an access list is narrower than ownership, is not transferable, and ends when the governing session is revoked or the order otherwise terminates. Court personnel may access only as required for adjudication and administration under the same document-specific boundary.

Tamsin Roe, Leo Marr, and Corin Pell jointly certify that the appearances and disclosures contain no real client secret, operational detail, address, credential, or contact channel. Each signature is an exercise attestation. The filing is public and does not require restricted treatment.
