Never-Filed Post-Stay-Denial Mandate

Court: United States Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit Case: Open Grid Archive v. United States Department of Energy Isolated docket: SYN-CA4-26-CV-4106-CF-NEVER-OCCURRED Filed: June 30, 2026

The Court issues its mandate in the isolated denied-stay path. The May 29 counterfactual opinion and judgment affirmed the corrected district rulings. The June 22 rehearing order shortened the remaining Rule 40 period and directed June 29 issuance. Open Grid later requested a stay, DOE responded, and the panel denied that request on June 29 while shortening Rule 41(b)'s newly reset seven-day interval to one day and fixing June 30 as the issuance date.

This mandate consists of certified copies of the judgment and opinion and the Court's procedural directions. It places the full affirmance into effect without remand. It does not add a rationale, adjudicate an unfiled certiorari petition, or treat the stay motion as having extended the corrected merits record.

The shortened interval is part of the issuance authority, not a substantive sanction. Both sides received notice of the next-day date in the denial order. The mandate becomes effective today and ends this particular counterfactual appellate proceeding.

Clerk's Certification

Teren Wye certifies that the isolated docket shows the precise sequence required for this path: timely rehearing proceedings, June 22 denial, June 25 stay motion, June 26 opposition, June 29 stay denial and timing order, and June 30 issuance. No event from a rehearing-grant path or the actual appeal is part of this certification.

The controlled judicial counterparts remain governed by their limited access orders for thirty days after mandate, through July 30, 2026, absent earlier reconsideration or a new supported order. Transmission preserves each document's access classification and does not itself create a disclosure grant.

The Clerk serves Tamsin Roe, Leo Marr, and Corin Pell electronically and transmits the certified branch materials to the fictional district clerk. Costs, if any, remain governed by the judgment and ordinary clerk accounting; no operational material accompanies the record.

Issued June 30, 2026 at the direction of Judges Vale, Quill, and Reed. This document was never entered on the actual docket and has no legal effect outside the isolated exercise.
