Never-Filed Certified Limited-Remand Return and Resumption Notice

Never-filed date: March 23, 2026 Isolated synthetic docket: SYN-CA4-26-CR-4201-CF-DAY15-NEVER-FILED Never-filed document number: 5

Tessa Wren certifies the limited-remand record to Maela Cross. The return contains the March 12 notice and timing packet, the March 16 limited-remand order, Serrano's March 18 disclaimer, and Judge Elara Venn's March 20 findings and order.

The district court found that the notice was received directly on day 15, with no earlier Rule 4(c) deposit, Rule 4(b)(3) tolling motion, clerk inaccessibility, government notice, or other time-shifting event. It separately found neither excusable neglect nor good cause and declined a Rule 4(b)(4) extension.

No presentence report or sealed sentencing volume accompanies the return because none is necessary for the timing issue. The certificate includes no genuine address, account, credential, or court-system path. All four returned sources remain labeled as never filed and isolated.

The district court has completed the task specified by the remand and takes no position on appellate dismissal, waiver, or the merits. This certified return does not enter any paper in the actual district or appellate docket.

Appellate Resumption Notice

The fictional appellate clerk acknowledges receipt on March 23 and resumes administrative processing of the isolated matter. The limited-remand abeyance ends, while the March 20 findings remain part of the branch record.

The fictional United States may file any threshold motion addressing disposition. Its first such substantive filing must identify every apparent threshold ground it wishes to preserve under then-existing law and Local Rule 27(f)(2). No earlier government filing in this branch has addressed disposition.

Resumption does not itself invoke Rule 4(b), deem the notice timely, or decide the appeal. It also does not reopen the district court's completed Rule 4(b)(4) determination. Any party response must work from the express findings returned rather than supply a new extension request to the appellate court.

Maela Cross serves this notice through the synthetic channel on Celia Arden and Bram Ives. The notice is confined to document number 5 in SYN-CA4-26-CR-4201-CF-DAY15-NEVER-FILED. It was never issued in the actual appeal, alters no actual schedule, and contains no prediction of an actual disposition.
