Sealed Complete Privilege Log — Outside- CM/ECF Exchanged Copy

United States District Court for the Eastern District of North Carolina

Rhea Calder v. Cinder Lake Health Network, Inc.

Civil Action No. SYN-EDNC-25-CV-0882

Provisional Sealed Exhibit DE29-S2 — Exchanged February 5, 2026; lodged offline February 26, 2026

Privileged-Description Detail — Fictional Exercise Material

This complete eight-page synthetic privilege log was exchanged with Calder on February 5, 2026 through an entitled-party offline paper process; that exchange was not a court filing. It was provisionally lodged outside CM/ECF on February 26 as proposed sealed Exhibit DE29-S2.

The document supplies fuller descriptions only for adjudicating claims. It is available only through court-authorized offline access and is not public or electronically accessible.

Category Overview and Claim Method

Twenty items fall into five categories: four counsel-directed interviews, four client requests or counsel responses, four draft-analysis items, four anticipated-litigation materials, and four remediation-advice communications. Every entry identifies a date, participants, document type, subject, and claimed protection.

Cinder Lake does not withhold underlying preexisting records simply because they reached Rowan Vale. It claims protection for confidential legal communications and counsel's work produced because regulatory and employment litigation was reasonably anticipated.

INT-001 Through INT-004 — Interview Records

INT-001, July 9: Rowan Vale interview memorandum of Selene Ward concerning intake and escalation. INT-002, July 14: Vale memorandum of Ivo Renn concerning exception practices. INT-003, July 22: Vale memorandum of Lysa Moor concerning employment chronology. INT-004, August 4: Vale memorandum of supervisor Orin Pell concerning performance decisions.

Each reflects counsel's questions, employee communications made to obtain legal advice, source selection, and impressions. Attorney-client privilege and opinion work product are asserted. The witnesses' firsthand facts are not categorically withheld.

COM-005 Through COM-008 — Requests and Advice

COM-005, July 2: Ward to Vale requesting legal review of Calder's reports. COM-006, July 3: Vale to executive sponsor Mira Sol explaining preservation and investigation scope. COM-007, July 16: Sol to Vale asking about potential external-reporting obligations. COM-008, July 28: Vale to Ward providing preliminary legal-risk guidance.

All were confined to personnel necessary for advice. Attorney-client privilege is asserted; COM-006 through COM-008 also contain litigation-oriented mental impressions protected as work product.

MEM-009 Through MEM-012 — Draft Analysis

MEM-009, July 18: counsel issue outline. MEM-010, August 1: draft factual synthesis with annotations. MEM-011, August 12: draft legal assessment and proposed recommendations. MEM-012, August 18: prefinal memorandum with client comments.

The drafts reveal Vale's selection, emphasis, evolving theories, and confidential advice. Attorney-client privilege and opinion work product are asserted. Public disclosure of corporate conclusions on August 21 did not reveal the drafts or their evolution.

LIT-013 Through LIT-016 — Anticipated Litigation

LIT-013, August 6: preservation-risk assessment. LIT-014, August 11: confidential follow-up interview plan. LIT-015, September 15: outline of potential retaliation allegations after Calder's discharge. LIT-016, October 3: litigation-response chronology prepared for counsel.

These materials were created because counsel anticipated regulatory and employment litigation. Work product is asserted throughout; client communications embedded in LIT-013, LIT-015, and LIT-016 also support attorney-client claims.

REM-017 Through REM-020 — Remediation Advice

REM-017, August 13: Vale advice to Ward on escalation guidance. REM-018, August 17: counsel comments on training scope. REM-019, August 19: legal assessment of supervisory reconciliation. REM-020, September 8: counsel monitoring advice to Ward and Mira Sol.

The corporate measures themselves and final implementation records are not withheld on this basis. The listed communications contain confidential legal evaluation and anticipated-litigation advice, supporting attorney-client and work-product claims.

Certification, Service, and Filing Boundary

Mara Voss certifies that the descriptions are complete within this synthetic log and were provided so Calder could assess each claim. No entry is withheld solely because it concerns the same general subject as the August 21 response. Challenges remain document specific.

The entitled-party copy was exchanged offline February 5. This copy was lodged offline February 26 under provisional sealed handling, accompanied by a public motion, public counterpart, and service/provenance certificate. It was never uploaded to or retrieved from CM/ECF or another real electronic court system.
