

United States Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit

Combined Counsel Appearances and Corporate Disclosures

Asterglen Freight Software, Inc., Appellant, v. Copper Kestrel Logistics, LLC and Meridian Silt Holdings, LLC, Appellees.

No. SYN-CA4-26-CV-4102 Appellate ECF No. 3 — Filed March 16, 2026

The parties submit their combined appearances and corporate disclosures for this appeal. Appellant Asterglen Freight Software, Inc. appears through its designated appellate counsel of record. Appellee Copper Kestrel Logistics, LLC appears through separate designated appellate counsel. Appellee Meridian Silt Holdings, LLC appears through its designated appellate counsel. Each attorney signing this filing is admitted to practice before this Court or will complete any required admission procedure before submitting a merits brief.

Service shall be made through the Court's electronic filing system at the addresses maintained for counsel of record. Each represented entity authorizes its appearing counsel to receive notices, orders, briefs, and scheduling communications. No party requests paper notice. If representation or contact information changes, affected counsel will file a prompt amended appearance rather than relying on informal communication with the Clerk.

The appearances cover this appeal only and do not alter the representation entries maintained in Civil Action No. SYN-NDWV-25-CV-0618. Counsel acknowledge that the appellate matter is No. SYN-CA4-26-CV-4102 and that the district action remains pending on claims not included in the partial judgment.

Corporate disclosure statements

Asterglen Freight Software, Inc. states that it has no parent corporation and that no publicly held corporation owns ten percent or more of its stock. Asterglen knows of no publicly held corporation with a direct financial interest in the outcome of Count I beyond an interest common to ordinary commercial counterparties. Asterglen will amend this statement promptly if those circumstances change while the appeal is pending.

Copper Kestrel Logistics, LLC states that it has no parent corporation and that no publicly held corporation owns ten percent or more of its membership or equity interests. Copper identifies no publicly held corporation with a direct financial interest in the outcome of the appeal. Copper's pending $120,000 amended counterclaim is its own asserted claim and does not create a separate corporate disclosure for another entity.

Meridian Silt Holdings, LLC states that it has no parent corporation and that no publicly held corporation owns ten percent or more of its membership or equity interests. Meridian identifies no publicly held corporation with a direct financial interest in the appellate disposition. Its status as a defendant on unresolved Count II is disclosed in the docketing papers, but that status does not alter the ownership statement made here.

Each party has reviewed the entities named in the Complaint, amended counterclaim, and Notice of Appeal. No additional affiliate requiring disclosure has been identified. These statements concern ownership and financial interest; they do not concede liability, jurisdiction, finality, or the merits of any claim.

The parties make these disclosures on the basis of their present organizational records and after inquiry of personnel responsible for ownership information. Any later corporate transaction that changes an answer will be reported by a supplemental filing so the Court can evaluate financial interests throughout the appeal.

Counsel certifications and service

Counsel for each party certifies that the appearance information supplied to the Clerk is current, that electronic service is authorized, and that no known conflict requires recusal based on an undisclosed parent, owner, or financially interested public corporation. Each counsel will supplement the applicable disclosure without awaiting a court request if a relevant relationship arises.

The parties understand that an appearance does not waive a jurisdictional objection. Copper and Meridian preserve their position that the February 4 order and partial judgment lack the express no-just-reason determination required by Rule 54(b). Asterglen preserves its contention that appellate jurisdiction exists while acknowledging the Court's duty to examine finality independently. All parties also preserve their positions concerning the January 12 summary-judgment ruling if the Court reaches the merits.

This combined filing is intended to reduce duplicative administrative papers. Each party remains responsible for its own briefs, motions, and certifications. No counsel signing for one client purports to speak for another on a disputed issue. The parties agree only that the appearances and ownership statements above are accurately attributed.

We certify that this filing was submitted electronically on March 16, 2026 and served through the Court's system on every counsel listed for Asterglen, Copper, and Meridian. The filing contains no restricted material, requests no substantive relief, and does not change the scope of the Notice of Appeal.
