Ordinary Mandate-Release Order

United States Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit

Blue Ember Biologics, LLC v. Granite Heron Logistics, Inc.

No. SYN-CA4-26-CV-4105

Entered July 30, 2026

The court entered its published opinion and judgment on July 9, 2026. Under Federal Rule of Appellate Procedure 40, the ordinary fourteen-day period to petition for rehearing expired July 23. No party filed a petition by that date. The docket also contains no motion to stay mandate, no order recalling or withholding mandate, and no other event altering the ordinary schedule.

The additional seven-day interval prescribed by Federal Rule of Appellate Procedure 41(b) has now expired. The clerk is therefore directed to release the mandate today in the usual course. This administrative order does not revise the opinion, judgment, or four-component disposition. It makes no new finding about preservation, evidentiary weight, retrial scope, or damages.

Upon issuance, the mandate will transmit the July 9 judgment and opinion to the Western District of North Carolina. The district court may then proceed with the retrial of gross damages and mitigation while treating liability and causation as fixed. Neither the prior $3,900,000 amount nor the vacated $2,700,000 amount is declared an immediately payable final recovery by this order. Entered by the Fictional Fourth Circuit exercise clerk on July 30, 2026, with electronic notice to Maya Holt, Jonas Bell, Eli Mercer, and Tara Webb.
